

Overview:

The Catastrophe Agency is an agency for bad cats to be employed to annoy humans. It is meant to be cute, playful, slightly humorous but overall upbeat. Overall, it is a simple website that appears to somewhat be legitimate so the components are homogeneous. I'm going slightly with convention and choosing a more soothing and conventional palette with slight pops of color giving the feel of an employment agency (except for bad cats). The website hopes to mimic an employment agency, but yet give a cute, funny, whimsical feel through the illustrations, text, use of color and typography.
